

Nicklaus Returns to Vancouver Island

June 2007

NICKLAUS RETURNS TO VANCOUVER ISLAND

Located on the west coast of Vancouver Island, near the town of Ucluelet, the Jack Nicklaus Golf Club of Canada is expected to be the centerpiece attraction of the Wyndarisea Oceanfront Golf Resort. The planned resort will cover 370 acres next to the Pacific Rim National Park, and is scheduled to open in the spring of 2009.

The design currently calls for holes to border the Pacific Ocean on the west side of the property and the Ucluelet Inlet on the east. With topography ranging from steep cliffs on one side, a bay on the other and rugged terrain in the middle, the land lends itself to a great variety of holes that will offer a challenge to golfers of all levels.

"We're creating a resort on Canada's West Coast that we believe will be a destination for generations to come," said Elke Loof-Koehler, CEO Marine Drive Properties Ltd.

Located on the west coast of Vancouver Island, near the town of Ucluelet, the Jack Nicklaus Golf Club of Canada is expected to be the centerpiece attraction of the Wyndarisea Oceanfront Golf Resort. The planned resort will cover 370 acres next to the Pacific Rim National Park, and is scheduled to open in the spring of 2009.

The design currently calls for holes to border the Pacific Ocean on the west side of the property and the Ucluelet Inlet on the east. With topography ranging from steep cliffs on one side, a bay on the other and rugged terrain in the middle, the land lends itself to a great variety of holes that will offer a challenge to golfers of all levels.

"We're creating a resort on Canada's West Coast that we believe will be a destination for generations to come," said Elke Loof-Koehler, CEO Marine Drive Properties Ltd.